The Cherokee Strip.

Disappointed Boomers Taking Possession of That Territory.

ADVICE FROM J. B. WEAVER.

He Says That the Settlers Have as Much Right to the Land as the Cattlemen. The First Child Born in Kingfisher. Other Oklahoma News.

GUTHRIE, O. T., April 26.—A mass meeting of settlers, composed largely of disappointed boomers, was addressed by ex-Congressmen J. B. Weaver yesterday afternoon. He advised them to move into the Cherokee strip, break land and begin other permanent improvements. "The soldiers," he said, "will come to drive you out, and when they do you can lay down your shovels and ploughs and say: 'I bow to the majesty of the law,' but you must also say before you resign the land of your choice: 'I will leave the Cherokee strip when the cattlemen go.' They have no rights there."

J. B. WEAVER.

Gen. Weaver added that President Cleveland encouraged all their improvements, and if the United States military had not been swayed by political forces the strip would have been free of cattle barons and open to white settlers to-day.

The ex-congressman's words were received with rousing cheers, and hundreds of men are leaving Oklahoma to follow his advice. It is estimated that 2,000 homesteaders have broken soil in the strip. Three companies of cavalry are now out scouring, with orders to remove them to Kansas or Oklahoma, and it looks as though they will have employment for several months to come.

The News from Kingfisher.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 26.—A Times special from Kingfisher says that three more companies of infantry have been ordered there to be commanded by Capts. Annan, Cavanaugh and Clarke. There is no disorder and the troops are sent merely as a precautionary measure.

The first baby was born yesterday. It first saw the light of the world in a wagon, and was christened Oklahoma Lewis. The parents are from Texas.

A number of settlers have claimed the north half of this section as a town site and have named it Kingfisher. They have elected a mayor and council, and are running opposition to the original Kingfisher.

John A. Blair, secretary of the Cherokee Live Stock association, and three others have entered a section between here and the strip line. It is said that the Rock Island railroad will build a depot on the site. One of the Blair party, who paid $470 for a lot, was chased off by a settler who had first taken possession. The settler was armed with a hatchet.

There are three or four contests on nearly every claim, and the land lawyers are preparing for a harvest.

Reports of murders come in, but none of them have been substantiated, and it is believed that not a man has been killed.

Gen. Merritt's Story Ridiculous.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., April 26.—Gen. Merritt's report is believed here to be ridiculous. There are between 50,000 and 75,000 people now in Oklahoma. Guthrie has fully 15,000 inhabitants. Gen. Merritt has made his headquarters from the first at Oklahoma City, which has only about 2,000 people, and has not been able to hear from Kingfisher or Purcell.

The first natural death in Oklahoma occurred at Oklahoma City yesterday. Thomas O'Neill, a young unmarried man from Marshall, Mo., died of a congestive chill, brought on by exertion and exposure. Many cases of pneumonia are reported.

As Telegraphed to Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Secretary Noble has received the following telegram from a special agent at Guthrie, Oklahoma: "Everything here is in a quiet condition. The exclusion of liquor has given us a peaceful and orderly community. The land office here is moving smoothly. The Washington force is invaluable."

An Investigation to Take Place.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Secretary Noble has directed an investigation of the reports that government officials had used their authority as officials to secure entry to land in Oklahoma territory.

Railroad Station Burned.

ALBANS, Vt., April 26.—About 2:30 a. m., fire at Stanbridge, just across the line, burned the Canadian Pacific road station, engine and freight house, one engine, two passenger cars, eight freight cars, most of which were loaded, Somerset's large general store, two hotels and several houses. The loss will probably reach $25,000.

Train Wrecked by a Burning Bridge.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 26.—A freight train on the Pennsylvania railway ran into a burning bridge at Carawissa at noon yesterday, and broke through into the ravine, making a terrible wreck, and fatally injuring Engineer Joel Bonsines, Fireman Jonas Russell and Brakeman James Incline. The loss is about $70,000.

STORY OF A ROBBERY.

And the Police Think That a Story is all There Is in It.

DENVER, Col., April 26.—A man named F. A. Van Husen, a wholesale dealer in tobacco, rushed into police headquarters late last night and claimed to have been knocked down and robbed of $15,000. According to Van Husan's story, himself and A. M. Ghost, a real estate dealer, contemplated an investment in Albuquerque, N. M., and they intended leaving last night.

Yesterday Van Husan drew out of the German National bank $10,000, and immediately afterwards $5,000. It was then decided to express the money, but on finding the charge too exorbitant, decided to deposit it again and secure a draft. On returning to the bank they found it closed. It was then decided that one of the two depart for the territory last night, while the other remain over till morning. About 8 o'clock last night, while Van Husan was on his way homeward with the money in two packages, he was suddenly accosted by two men, who, without any warning, sandbagged him, and knocked him senseless.

On recovering, finding the money gone, Van Husan at once repaired to the police headquarters and told the story just related. From the beginning the authorities placed but little credence in the story, and to-day it was discovered that Van Husan was largely in debt, several attachments having been served on him for $5,000 the day previous, while over five times that amount is due to eastern tobacco houses. Since the story that Van Husan adheres to is so "shaky" the police are disinclined to work on the case.

OUT ON THE OCEAN AGAIN.

Captain Murrell and His Crew Depart from Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—The gallant steamer Missouri which brought the rescued survivors of the Danmark to this city, took her departure from Philadelphia at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Capt. Murrell's last day in port was signalized by a general mark of sentiment on behalf of himself and the officers of the steamer. The vessel's officers have contributed their entire share of the testimonial fund raised for them to the survivors of the Danmark. The crew retain their portion.

Capt. Murrell gave a reception on board the Missouri yesterday, and for three hours continuously shook the ceaseless line of men, women and children by the hand. A floral souvenir, tied with a silk ribbon to a card, was handed to each lady as she passed in line. The cards had printed on them: "Compliments of Captain Hamilton Murrell, of the Atlantic Transport Steamship Missouri, April 25, 1889."

Among others who presented their compliment to the captain were fifty Indian girls from the Lincoln home. They presented him with a gold watch chain with a bloodstone setting, and a pair of beaded moccasins.

Three Killed at a Crossing.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 25.—John W. Dis and wife, and James M. Linderman, a boy of 12 years, were killed at Newport, five miles south of here, at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon on the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railway. They were driving across the track there, and were hit by the northbound New York and Washington express. The man and woman were killed outright, the boy soon after dying. The people were in a wagon and became bewildered by the shouts of warning from bystanders and stopped the team on the track. At that moment the train struck them. The horse was killed and the wagon demolished.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 26.—Charles F. Woodruff, of New Britain, who at various times has been in the newspaper, law and real estate business, has confessed to forgeries aggregating $40,000, extending over a number of years, most of the money, it is understood, being lost in real estate speculations. Boulanger's Boom.

It Has But Little Foundation in London.

WHO HIS CALLERS ARE.

They Principally Consist of Those Who Are Seeking Notoriety—Some of the Papers to Publish Some Unpleasant Things About Him—Other Foreign News.

LONDON, April 26.—Competent judges express belief that the Boulanger boom in London will "peter" out within a fortnight. In spite of the fact that the general has been the recipient of a number of invitation to dinners and receptions it is a significant fact that not one of them has come from a social or political leader, nor has a single person of social or political distinction visited him at his hotel. The bulk of his callers and would-be entertainers are of the class denominated "turf hunters," who see in their entertainment by or of the general the possibility of achieving notority.

Besides this it is stated that an account of the matter of the expulsion of the Orleans princes from France, while Boulanger was minister of war, wherein Boulanger's own letters to the Due d'Aumale proved him to be both ungrateful and untruthful is to be republished in some of the London papers. Such a cause on the part of his enemies can but have the effect to exclude him from a great many of the clubs, as well as to close the doors of most of the best houses against him.

Elaborate preparations are making at Richmond for the celebration of the silver wedding of the Comte Dg Paris, which will take place on May 20. A great many of the leading Orleanists will be present on the occasion, but it is not believed that Boulanger will attend, if, indeed, he is fortunate enough to receive an invitation.

Lord Alvester and Lord Randolph Churchill were among the callers upon Gen. Boulanger yesterday. Lord Randolph remained in consultation with the French exile half an hour.

Great Preparations

Being Made in New York to Accommodate

THE CENTENNIAL VISITORS.

Summer Resorts to be Opened and Every Facility for Sight-Seeing Offered to the Thousands of Strangers—Ridding the City of Thieves.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Preparations for the reception of the visitors attending the centennial are rapidly pushed forward. Guests are arriving hourly, while requests for accommodations from all points continue to pour in. The hotels are already filled, and thousands of applications for accommodations are in the hands of the hotel keepers' committee. If possible the applicants will be furnished with quarters at boarding houses and dwellings that have yet some room to spare.

Every facility for sightseeing will be afforded the visitors. Even at many of the summer resorts that do not open the regular season for a month yet, preparations are being made to accommodate all who come. June 15 is the usual time for opening the season at Coney Island, but in order to accommodate the visitors the Brighton Beach hotel will be thrown open on Sunday next.

The triumphal arches, under which the parades will pass, are rapidly approaching completion. Along the route immense stands have been erected at numerous points calculated to hold thousands of people. By Saturday night it is believed everything will be in readiness, and that the city will present an appearance never before equalled by any city in the Union.

Inspector Byrnes has started to rid the city of professional thieves. Wednesday night, he instructed his men to arrest every thief on sight. Over fifty thieves had been bagged by morning. They comprised hotel thieves, badgers, pickpokets, highwayman and sneaks. They were all held in $1,500 bail for further examination.

ALLIANCE OF COLORED MEN.

Each Member Declares that He Will Have Nothing to Do With Politics.

BALTIMORE, April 26.—The Times special from Charleston, S. C., says: The Colored Farmers' National Alliance and Co-operation union was organized yesterday in Union county, this state. Its objects are to elevate the colored people of America by teaching them to love their country and their homes; to care more for their helpless and destitute, and to labor more earnestly for the education of themselves in agricultural pursuits, to become better farmers and laborers and less wasteful in their methods of living, to be more obedient to civil and criminal law, and to draw all their attention from political partisanship and become better citizens.

The president and organizers say in an address: "It is by no means a political organization. The condition of things and our present situation satisfy us that our happiness and fortune are not in politics. We have been so often deceived by political tricksters until our hope in politics is lost. We have been looked upon as a political prey long enough. We expect through this alliance to let all parties know that our race is no longer a missionary field for politicians. The organization is not to work against the white man, for his interest is our interest."

It is stated at the office of the surgeon general of the army that a considerable percentage of the claims which congress intended for those disabled soldiers is unnecessarily wasted in attorney fees. ILLINOIS FARMERS ORGANIZE

To Protect Themselves from an Imagined Twine Trust and Other Evils.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., April 25.—Two hundred farmers and others from all parts of Illinois attended the state convention here, yesterday, called to discuss and act upon the binding twine monopoly or trust. J. B. Orendorff, of this city, presided.

A long series of resolutions was adopted, alleging that there is a ruinous binding twine trust, organized to corner the market and increase the price of twine; protesting against the "unholy alliance" and resolving to use every honest effort to defeat it; recommending that farmers order no twine at more than reasonable rates, and to use wire or hemp if necessary. Congress and state legislatures are urged to enact laws against pools and combinations of this character, and the manufacture of twine at the state prisons is urged.

Editor Perham, of The Prairie Farmer, Chicago, declared there was no twine trust, and the high price of twine resulted from scarcity of raw material. Propositions were made to the convention to supply flax twine at nine and one-half cents a pound, and sisal or manilla, in 500 pound lots, at fifteen cents.

Grand Master Thompson, of the state grange, made a speech in favor of farmers going into permanent organization, and the "Farmers' Defensive association, of Illinois," was formed. An executive committee was appointed, composed of one member of each congressional district of the state.

CORROBORATED.

The Story That Two Peddlers Were Murdered in Russell County, Kentucky.

SOMERSET, Ky., April 26.—About a year ago John and Henry Hill were arrested for the murder of two peddlers near Jamestown, Russell county. The murder was discovered by means of pieces of flesh found scattered through the woods. A woman named Berger, who lived at Henry Hill's where the peddlers were last seen, told the awful story. She said that the peddlers stayed there for the night; as soon as they were asleep Henry went over and got his brother John and prepared to murder the men for their money. They made her go with them and held a basin to catch the blood while they cut their throats. They carried the bodies into the cellar, and the next night took them away. The Hills swore that the woman's story was spite work, and as the bodies could not be found they were set free.

Wednesday Marshall Ord, a boy of 10, was playing on the hillside, slipped and caught at a wild grapevine, which pulled up by the roots. Seeing a piece of coffee sack he dug further and found two human skeletons done up in a sack. The washbasin and a basket, recognized as belonging to the Hills, was near by. FRIDAY, - - - APRIL 26.

THE Wisconsin Legislature has adjourned after the longest session since the war. It would be still holding forth, but the supply of pigs in clover ran out.

IN another column is a Bowling Green contribution to The Weekly Star, and we give it space in the DAILY, inasmuch as the article expresses a growing sentiment.

MARION is never without a boom. Three colored marriages for Thursday is sufficient to be recorded among the booms, considering the extent of the local colored population.

WE publish the first of a series interesting letters from the Sunny South in this issue. The STAR'S correspondent weilds an interesting pen and our readers will doubtless greatly enjoy the perusal of the letters.

WATER is five cents per gallon in Oklahoma, but that need not necessarily hamper the boom. There are times when water isn't regarded as a real necessity. They can take ginger ale with their whiskey.

IF the waterworks people would only become as active as the hustlers for street railway franchises, we should all be happy. In the absence of encouragement the waterworks situation looks dreary. Even the old Bullock pipes will not be removed until the twenty days expire and the city does the work.

THIS is a great country, remarks the Akron Telegraph. Then it says, in Dakota they are paying one dollar each for live cats and in New York the people cannot kill them off fast enough. We suggest the cat industry to impecunious New Yorkers. Instead of killing the felines ship them west. Dakota will appreciate it and another tie will be formed to bind the wild and woolly west and the mild and furry east.

The advantages of Arbor Day are proclaimed by the fact that when it was first observed in Nebraska, seventeen years ago, 12,000,000 trees were planted, and there are now growing in that once largely barren State 605,000,000 trees. So we learn that 100,000 acres of value less dunes on the Bay of Biscay were planted with trees by Bremontier, which now yield France an annual income of a hundred and thirty million francs.

DURING the campaign it was loudly proclaimed from the free trade stump that Ohio farms were mortgaged for more than $700,000,000. Recent reliable statistics not only disprove the story but show that farm, village and city mortgages do not reach half that figure, and the farm mortgages alone do not reach one-tenth of that sum. The farmers are not doing so badly as the tariff reformers would have them believe.

THE only way a New Yorker can learn anything is by experience. The committee having in charge the Washington centennial thought it would be a graceful thing to invite the decendants of the country's first President to be its guests. But after it had received its one thousand six hundred and fifty-first acceptance, with no sign of a cessation in the crop of the Washington family, it made up its mind that perhaps it had been a trifle too generous in its proffered hospitality.

—Rev. Belt, of Delaware, was in the city Thursday a short time.

—The examiners for color blindness passed over the N. Y., P. and O. Thursday, examining the employes.

—You can get your rag carpet washed, and your lace curtains and pillow shams done up at the Marion Steam Laundry.

—Corporal Tanner, Commissioner of Pensions, has detailed Dr. Rhu to make a special medical examination of a pensioner near Cincinnati.

—Bart Fenton, who has been suffering with typhoid fever for the past few weeks, is rapidly gaining strength and hopes soon to to be able to resume his studies in the Cincinnati Law college.

—A smooth tongued gentleman rapped on the door of Mr. and Mrs. John Owen for admittance, Thursday night. He is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Owen, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Walters, all of Owen Station.

—H. Porter & Son, of Muncie, have arrived in the city, where they expect to locate their steam dye works. A first-class outfit of machinery accompanied them. Their advertisement will appear in a few days, as soon as they are fairly settled in their new location.

—Miss Annie Bahrenburg, employed at Williams & Leffler's tailor shop, met with a distressing accident Thursday afternoon. While at work with a machine, she caught one of the fingers of her left hand beneath the presser-foot in such a way that the needle penetrated entirely through the tip of that member, and during her struggle to free her hand, the needle was broken and bent, causing a very painful wound. The needle remained in the finger and in order to withdraw it, Art Williams was forced to use a pair of shears as nippers, so firmly was it lodged.

—What might have resulted in a fatal case of poisoning occurred at the home of W. B. Fisher on west Center street, Wednesday night. Harry, taking by mistake a dose of poison, instead of glycerine, which he was taking for a cold. The bottles resembled each other in appearance so much that he did not discover his mistake until he had swallowed the deadly drug, and had he not taken such a great amount it would, doubtless, have ended fatally. Having taken a very large quantity, he immediately commenced vomiting from which he was not relieved until he had discharged the whole of the drug from his stomach. After a few moments illness he was sufficiently recovered to be about again, none the worse, apparently, for the experience.

FROM THE SUNNY SOUTH

An Interesting Letter from Chattanooga, With a Graphic Description of the Journey Thither.

[Special Correspondence to the STAR.]

CHATANOOGA, April 24.—This delightful day finds us pleasantly located on Cameron Hill, in the northwestern suburb of Chattanooga, Tenn. The air is cool, yet soft and balmy, and has a delightful languorous effect on one, making him long for nothing more than a hammock and a copy of—Robert Elsmere.

We left Marion on Monday at 9:10 p.m., and, after numerous delays and the usual unpleasantness incident to travel, reached our destination at 6:10 p.m., Tuesday.

Notwithstanding ours is an enforced trip—combining the search for health with a quest for pleasure—we find it so far beneficial. It is well to leave one's home for a season, it is wise to go abroad among strangers: the mind and body, alike, become debilitated, and lose their common energies as frequently from the lack of change and new variety as from any other cause. Relaxation, in this way, from the toils of one station serves to enlarge the capacities, to make room for thought, to afford time for the gathering of new materials and for the exercise of all the faculties of sense and sentiment. As the farther we go in the natural, so in the moral world—a like journey in the same manner yields us a wider horizon. We add to our stock by attrition with strangers; a tacit trade is carried on between us; our modes of thinking, our manners, habits, aims, become intermixed with or modified by them. One learns to overcome some foolish prejudices, make new friends and form new associations, by enlarging the sphere of our observations. We compare our own home surroundings with what we see abroad, and it is in most cases an agreeable comparison.

A trip, however brief, is an educator, and to those of our northern friends who have never turned their faces southward, we heartily recommend a journey over the Cincinnati Southern railroad. You will get more scenery to the mile than in almost any part of the world. For about fifty miles after leaving Cincinnati we passed through a country whose broken surface resembled huge chocolate creams set closely together. We swung around curves until the sensation recalled the halcyon days of childhood, when we used to play "crack-the-whip" and usually found ourselves at the "stall." Dashing into tunnels (there are twenty-seven in all), over high trestles, thundering over bridges, where down, down so far below, the water showed like an emerald ribbon, fringed on either edge by the snow-covered laurel, it was a picture—or, rather, a succession of pictures—worthy the stroke of a more artistic brush than it is possible for your correspondent to give. At High Bridge we looked out over the extreme height and tried to imagine how it could be possible for any man, however daring, to make the leap, and concluded that the famous Stanly had well earned the belt of championship. The bridge spans the water at a height of 265 feet, men and horses on the ground below look like toys, and the river rushes madly on over the rocks, throwing up clouds of spray and foam. Where the leap was made, however, the channel widens and water slips into a dark, deep basin, forming a minature lake of limpid depths.

The air was cold as we left Cincinnati, and it was with considerable apprehension that we entered the coach and found it without fire. The dusky porter soon assured us that "You'll find it warm enough befo' long, sah"—and we did. The heat became almost intolerable as we passed through Tennessee. The invalid of the party started out with overcoat and rug, and it was amusing to see him shed the different layers as the heat increased. First, off went the overcoat, then, next the coat and boots followed, and there is no telling what might have gone next had we not font of consideration for the surroundings protested. Notwithstanding that we had a comfortable section in the hodoir car, we found the dust most disagreeable.

We find Chatanooga very much improved in streets and public buildings. The population is rapidly increasing and things are on a boom generally. Our friends live on Cameron Hill, in a quaint old southern mansion. It was built in 1852, in the good old days when a house without a gallery was not to be thought of. The one of which we write has a broad, many-pillared gallery running across the entire front and reached by a succession of stone steps. The building is of creamy brick and great festoons of columbine cover gables and roof. It has a history that your readers may like to hear. Being situated so high, and overlooking the city, and affording such ample accommodations, it was, during the war and especially the seige of Chatanooga, made headquarters for the Federal officers, and during those famous days of carnage and blood these wide halls resounded with the footsteps of Gen. Rosenerans, Gen. Thomas and Col. Gaw, post commander, and his staff, and at no time during the siege were the rooms empty.

It is not difficult to imagine, as I sit in the wide old gallery this morning, how in those days of darkness, councils of war were held in the spacious drawing room whose windows open just back of me. Perhaps from this very corner of the elevated veranda observations were taken of the movements of the enemy just across the valley and in full view of Mission Ridge; certain it is, the house is full of memories and full of interest. There is a romance your correspondent gleaned this morning from the genial present owner, Mr. C. Snyder, concerning a hidden treasure buried somewhere on the spacious grounds by the southern family who fled before the blue coats. He tells many amusing tales of the superstition of the natives, who at different times begged permission to dig for the treasure, and at one time he permitted some ambitious persons to puncture the soil in various places, but all to no purpose, except to prepare the soil for gardening—a result he had in his mind when the permission was given.

Tomorrow we go to Lookout Mountain, and, of this trip and others, more anon.

W.

Representative Worthington, of Washington, C. H., is making a rush for the Republican lieutenant governorship.

The Feast of Days.

The ladies of the Marion Art club have scored a success in their entertainment. A large crowd was present at Music Hall Thursday evening, and was well entertained. The hall was tastefully arranged with booths representing each day of the week, and the incident engagements in the panoramic order known to well regulated domestic machinery.

At the Monday booth you were greeted with a large motto with the prophetic announcement that "The Chinese must go." Here you had a view of the confusions of washday, but the attendants were really in a very amiable appearing mood, which was calculated to redeem any impressions to the contrary of the ladies on this "eventful" day. At Tuesday's booth you had ironing day, where was placarded the assurance that all wrinkles were smoothed except those of time; but one would wonder from the pleasant surroundings if those of time might not somewhat relax, in the presence of the agreeable ladies in charge. Wednesday was mending day, where the rents of a week's wear and tear were given attention. At Thursday's booth your eyes met a picture of elegance—the really handsome booth, but not more appropriate to the day—the time for social acknowledgments. Then we had Friday, the day of ill-luck, as superstitiously accepted; but here it was represented by a collection of household utensils, with the very comprehensive motto that "A new broom sweeps clean." And last but not least important is Saturday's booth, representing the cuisine, the secret of its prestige divulged in the motto—"The way to a man's heart." Here of course were refreshments, representing culinary abilities. All these booths have their different wares for sale, arranged appropriately as to the days they represent.

But to the entertainment. The exercises opened at 8:15 with a song service consisting of quartets, duets and anthems.

After this came the anxiously awaited "deestrick skule" exercises. The clanging notes of a large dinner bell brought the scholars filing in, costumes grotesque, with all the abandon of oldtimers. It was an hilarious scene until Pedogogue J. C. Johnston quieted the disturbing elements with a few indicative movements of the rod of authority. The class exercises were very amusing and were retrospections of the times when the usefulness of the district school was somewhat of a mystery. The exercises brought out many local hits which were amusing. Fred Isslelb as "Schim Plaine" was tardy. Schim had not been long from foreign climes, and made some linguistic contortions quite natural. Col. Eckhart as Grover Cleveland was as incorrigible as his namesake, and persisted that V stood for veto. Dr. Adams was the ideal of "physical development," but of "deform-d" speech. Charley Garlerson represented the Demosthenes of the school, and in his address to the board of directors, on behalf of "me and the master," he was equal to Mrs. Partington in his distortion of the English language. Director Drake's speech was a lengthy expose of the hidden treasures of the brain of the way-back school director, and it is intimated that he was still talking long after school was dismissed. You should see the "deestrick skule" to appreciate it.

Cochranton.

Esq. Hatfield was at Marion on Monday.

W. L. Morral was on our streets Tuesday evening.

Bob Lee was in town Monday evening on business, we presume.

Miss Dell and Grace Gray spent Saturday and Sunday at their home.

You can't guess who is our champion croquet player.

E. S. Moore was at Marion on Saturday last.

J. W. Dugan visited our place on Friday and Saturday.

A Miss Miller was in this vicinity Friday.

Alex Brady supports a new pipe since election.

A gentleman called at a residence in town, one evening this week, and asked to see the young lady of the house. The old gentleman hearing his calling, threw down his paper, stepped to the door and told the gentleman to apply elsewhere. He went to the party alone.

James Hatfield is once again a resident of our place. How came it so?

Easter Sunday was celebrated immensely by our boys. About 10 o'clock, a. m., you might have seen some eight or ten personages of all ages and sizes, tramping for the Buzoe woods. The programme was to catch a chicken, cook five eggs and fish two hours. Programme carried. "Whoopie, I am your pop corn" to catch a chicken, and he caught it after running it two miles and endangering himself to the puma which might attack at any time. "Dim me dem eggs," and the boy might have been seen to sweat a half or three-fourths of an hour over or about the fire, yet with great diligence, until he achieved his purposed plan. Gentlemen, I've been in the country just three week, and I know how to cook the chickens, said another boy, and in a few minutes this fellow might have been seen browning the breast of a dearly beloved pollywog, and the rest bringing up the rear. "Fishie, fishie in the brook, come and catch my little hook," exclaimed another boy in the crowd. Just at this time he was seen to disappear beneath the waves and come up with green froth all over him, saying, I will bet you $10. Just then all was still, and in the distant was heard a boy crying as if his heart would brake. So the story goes. The boys enjoyed themselves and were very quiet, only some one perchanced to tell his nearest friend, the other evening in town, and the news reached us.

A barn was burned at the residence of Walter Wybern, two miles north-west of here, on last Thursday evening. There were three horses, 1000 bushels corn, 300 bushels oats, eight head hogs, all his harness and farming implements. No knowledge of how the fire caught. So far, the neighbors have made a collection of $250 and 150 bushels of corn.

Several runners in town this week, and business lively.

The band boys were at Hepburn serenading the town, on Monday evening last. The band boys, of Hepburn, gave them a hearty welcome and remarked that they rendered splendid music.

John Hecker was in town Wednesday forenoon on business.

We have met two subscription papers this week so far, and had the bold courage to give a dollar.

We anticipate a new member in the band soon. You can't guess who.

Lutie Virden was visiting home and sister on Tuesday.

Frank Thomas might be seen on the playground at school Monday.

A fishing party proposed this evening, composed of two personages, the angle and the angler.

The mite society convenes on Tuesday evening, at the residence of Mr. Pfeiffer.

Dick Davis was seen driving through our streets on Sunday last. He supports a very nice rig.

April 25th. BOB.

A Lack of Appreciation.

[From Weekly Star.]

ED. STAR:—I see by the last few numbers of the Independent that the principal theme of the able (?), distinguished editor of that sheet, is that he is not fully appreciated by the party of which he assumes to be leader, in fact there are few that belong to it that he can lead, hence he is grumbling and growling like a chained bear.

To a person conversant with the politics of this country for the last twenty years, this growling comes with a beggers grace from that source. It is just as apparent as the noon-day sun that if this county had never had that distinguished and able old Bourbon Democrat of Buchanan days as the conductor of the party paper, this county would today be Republican, and there would be no division in her ranks. And today it is almost the universal expression of the men of the party, who have its welfare at heart, that for the good of the county and the good of the party, Crawford ought to step down and out. The days of his usefulness, if he ever had any, was before he left the Democratic party in the wilds of Wyandot, and migrated to this once peaceful and (politically) happy county; simply to sow dissention and discord among those who were making a good fight against the arce enemy, the Democracy. The condition is such, to which the Independent has reduced it, that no one is heard to raise a voice in the paper's praise, by reason of the general contempt that prevails for the assumed leader.

I write this because it is the general expression out in this part of the county, that it makes no difference "Who Struck Billy Patterson," or "Killed Cock Robbin," it is true that the Republican party in this county was killed by Crawford & Co., of the Independent.

RHEUMATISM AND NEURALGIA

These two diseases cause untold suffering. Doctors admit that they are difficult to cure—so do the patients. Paine's Celery Compound has permanently cured the worst cases of rheumatism and neuralgia. So say those who have used it.

"I have been troubled with rheumatism at the shoulder and back for five years. I was also in a terrible condition of mind, and I was very often unable to get out of bed for a long time. I used only one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and was entirely cured. I can now move around, and feel as lively as a boy." FRANK CASSELL, Detroit, Nebraska.

Paine's Celery Compound

"I have been greatly afflicted with acute rheumatism, and could find no relief until I used Paine's Celery Compound. After using six bottles of this medicine I am now cured of rheumatic troubles." SAMUEL HUTCHINSON, So. Cornish, N. H.

Effects Lasting Cures.

Paine's Celery Compound has performed many other cures as marvelous as these,—copies of letters sent to any address. Pleasant to take. It does not disturb, but aids digestion, and entirely vegetable: a child can take it. What's the use of suffering longer with rheumatism or neuralgia?

Proposed Amendment to the Constitution of Ohio.

LEGISLATIVE SINGLE DISTRICTS.

AMENDMENT NO. 2.

SECTION 1. Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That a proposition shall be submitted to the electors of this state on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1889, to amend Sections 1 to 11, inclusive, of Article XI. of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, so they shall read as follows:

ARTICLE XI.

SEC. 1. The apportionment for members of the General Assembly shall be made every ten years, prior to the first election for members of the General Assembly in each decennial period, in the manner herein provided.

SEC. 2. During the month of February prior to the first election for members of the General Assembly, in each decennial period, the members of the Senate and House of Representatives representing the two leading political parties respectively, shall meet in separate bodies, and each party shall designate two electors, who shall forthwith be appointed by the Governor, and such four electors so designated and appointed shall constitute a commission, who shall ascertain and determine the ratio of representation for members of the House of Representatives and senators, the number of representatives to which each county is entitled, and the boundaries of each senatorial district. Should any vacancy occur in such commission, the senators of the party making the original designation shall, within ten days thereafter, designate an elector to fill such vacancy, and he shall forthwith be appointed by the Governor.

SEC. 3. The population of the state, as ascertained by the preceding Federal census or in such other manner as the General Assembly shall direct, shall be divided by the number "one hundred and ten," and the quotient shall be the ratio of representation in the House of Representatives for the ten years succeeding such apportionment.

SEC. 4. Each county shall be entitled to at least one representative; each county containing such ratio, and one-half over, shall be entitled to two representatives; each county containing two and one-half times such ratio shall be entitled to three representatives, and so on.

SEC. 5. Each county entitled to more than one representative shall be divided by such commission into as many districts as there are representatives apportioned to such county; and one representative shall be chosen from each district.

SEC. 6. Each representative district, in counties entitled to more than one representative, shall be composed of compact territory, bounded by ward or township lines, and as nearly equal in population as practicable; and each of such districts shall be numbered.

SEC. 7. The state shall be divided into not less than thirty-five nor more than forty senatorial districts, as herein provided, and each district shall choose one senator.

SEC. 8. The ratio for a senator shall be ascertained by dividing the population of the state by the number "thirty-six."

SEC. 9. Each senatorial district shall be composed of compact territory, as nearly equal in population as practicable, and except as to districts in counties entitled to two or more senators, shall be bounded by county lines.

SEC. 10. Each county having a population equal to three-fourths of one senatorial ratio shall constitute a senatorial district. Each county having a population equal to one senatorial ratio, and one-half over, shall be divided into two senatorial districts. Each county having a population equal to two and one-half ratios shall be divided into three senatorial districts, and so on; but no ward or township shall be divided in the formation of a senatorial district.

SEC. 11. The apportionment so made for members of the General Assembly shall be reported to the Governor, by such commission, within three months after their appointment and the same shall be published in such a manner as shall be provided by law.

SECTION 2. At such election those electors desiring to vote for such amendment shall have placed upon the ballots the words "Legislative Single Districts—Yes," and those opposed to such amendment shall have placed upon their ballots the words "Legislative Single Districts—No."

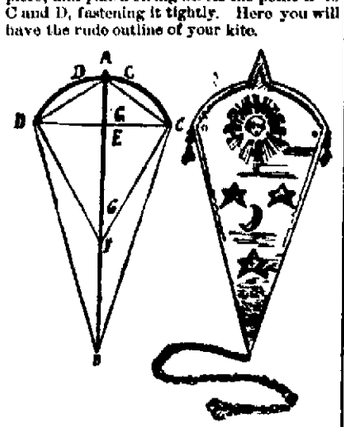
YOUNG FOLKS' COLUMN.

FOR THE AMUSEMENT AND ENTERTAINMENT OF YOUNG READERS.

Any Boy Can Make His Own Kite by Closely Following the Minute and Illustrated Directions Which Are Here Given for His Benefit.

In our opinion every boy ought to be able to make a kite for himself, instead of depending on the toy makers; and as a stimulus to constructive skill among our readers, we give them some directions on which they can rely.

Procure from the carpenter a strip of thin light lath, of the length you desire your kite to be. This is to form the back bone of the kite, and is marked A B in the diagram. The cross piece, C C, D D, consists of a piece of split cane, or osier wood, and should be about two-thirds the length of the back bone. Fasten this cross piece exactly by the center to the back bone A, an inch or two from the top (or across the top, if you prefer your kite without an upper point). Make a "nick" with a knife at the point C and D of the cross piece, and pass a string across the point B to C and D, fastening it tightly. Here you will have the rude outline of your kite.



HOW TO MAKE A KITE.

Now try if the two sides of the kite are equally balanced, for if they are not the kite will never fly properly. This is ascertained by balancing the kite frame horizontally on the forefinger. If one side is heavier than the other, it will overbalance and the heavier side hang towards the ground. Now fasten a string to point A and pass it to C, thence to F, to D, and so back to A, fastening it well to the lath at each point of contact. Another string from D to C will further strengthen the kite, the skeleton of which is complete, with the exception of two holes, G G, to be carefully drilled in the back bone, for the string by which the kite is to be flown.

For covering the kite, paste sheets of paper together, until you have a surface equal in extent to the kite. Lay the skeleton of the kite upon the paper, and cut the latter to the shape of the kite, taking care to leave a good margin all round, which is to be turned over, and securely pasted. Take care not to fasten the string by which you fly the kite too low on its surface, or the kite will "pitch," instead of flying steadily. The tail of the kite should be from ten to fifteen times the length of the kite itself, and the paper and tassel of which it consists should be of sufficient weight to balance the kite steadily in the air. In the more elaborate kites, made of calico or stuff, the tail sometimes consists of a number of small bags of sugar loaf shape, opening upwards, which catch the wind as the kite flies, and thus balance it.

Little Ben, the Parrot.

The following story was written for Little Men and Women: There was once a parrot who lived in a city, in a cage, and the children to whom he belonged were very good to him. When they went to the country in the summer they took Ben, the parrot, with them, and every day he was permitted to be out of doors among the green trees.

LITTLE BEN.

You know, doubtless, that parrots talk a little, and they understand a great deal. It was the children's duty to take the parrot in every night when they went for supper, but one night he was forgotten. The children ate their supper and went to bed. It grew dark and no one thought of poor little Ben. They had all forgotten him.

When all was still the mother, sitting quietly in the parlor, heard a plaintive voice, like a child's, say, "It's dreffle dark out here."

At first she thought it must be her own little girl. Then she remembered little Ben. And running out she found the little creature, lonely and drooping, all his bright gayety gone. She took him in and soon cheered him by her pity and care. And after that night he was never forgotten again.

"Hallo" and "Hurrah."

Philology teaches us that names were not born outright, but "just grew," like Topsy. Among exclamations in common use "Hallo!" and "Hurrah!" have curious origins attributed to them. It is said by the author of the "Queen's English" that the people of Carnwood forest, Leicestershire, when they desire to hail a person at a distance call out not "hallo!" but "hallowp!" This he imagines is a survival of the times when one cried to another, "A loup! a loup!" or as we would now say, "Wolf! wolf!" "Hurrah!" again, according to M. Littre, is derived from the Slavonic huraj, "to Paradise," which signifies that all soldiers who fell fighting valiantly went straight to heaven.

Bolivar's Christmas Dinner.

Bolivar is the show elephant at the Philadelphia zoo. He is 26 years old and the biggest elephant now in the country. He ate for his last Christmas dinner, if we may believe "Wide Awake," a barrel of cabbage, two bushels of potatoes, which he crunched under his feet and then mixed with hay, forming a sandwich loved by elephantine epicures, a peck of onions, twenty-five loaves of bread, a bushel of carrots and half a bushel of bran mash. He washed this down with sixty gallons of water and toyed with 500 pounds of hay for dessert. His three bushel peanut basket was filled six times during the day.

THE CURIOSITY SHOP.

The American Flag Not Yet Entitled to Forty-two Stars.

The United States flag is not yet entitled to the four new stars. There is some preliminary work to be done before they take their place in the stellar field of our national escutcheon. The number of stars in the United States flag today is thirty-eight and thirty-eight it will remain until the 4th of July, 1890. North and South Dakota, Montana and Washington have not yet been admitted as states into the Union, and, consequently, they are not yet entitled to representation on the flag. They have only been authorized by law to prepare for admission. Their peoples have first to elect delegates to constitutional conventions. These conventions must prepare state constitutions, and these constitutions must be submitted to the vote of the people and state officers elected. If the constitutions are then ratified by the popular vote the president is required to issue a proclamation announcing the fact, and then, and then only, will North and South Dakota, Montana and Washington become states of the Union. The four stars, however, will not be added to the flag until the fourth day of July next succeeding, such being the provision of the general statutes of the United States.

Habits of the Salamander.

Considerable ignorance exists, even among persons of education, as to the habits of the salamander. The mere mention of this harmless little batrachian recalls to the minds of most people mystic ideas with respect to fire eating and fire inhabiting creatures, which have probably caused many of the poor little brutes to be burned by experimental philosophers who should have been far above belief in such absurdities. The spotted salamander is lamp black, with numerous large yellow spots and stripes, and is very common all over southern Europe as well as in northern Africa. It haunts all manner of dark and cool places, such as cavities under logs of wood and holes in old walls, where they can find a supply of insects, worms or slugs.

It is an interesting sight to watch the salamander when about to make a meal of a worm. For a few minutes it remains almost motionless, with its large black eyes turned down upon the victim. Then, with marvelous rapidity it pounces down upon the worm and seizes it by the middle; the extremities are left twisting violently around the muzzle. It then pushes the worm piece by piece down its throat, by means of its clawless and nailless forepaws. All the salamander's movements are performed with such absurd solemnity that the most hardened reptile hater could not be uninterested. Sometimes the simple operation of swallowing a large worm will last fully twenty minutes.

Curious Figures.

"Here is a curious study in figures," said the expert accountant. "Multiply the figures 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, by 45 and we get this result: 5,555,555,505. Reverse the figures thus: 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1, and use the same multiplier, and we get another curious string, as follows: 444,444,444,445. Taking the same figures as a multiplicand and reversing the figures 45, 54, we get an equally curious result: 6,666,666,666. Again reversing the multiplicand and using the same multiplier, make, the sum total of all 8s, except the first and last figures, to wit: 5,333,333,334. You will perceive that the first and last figures put together make 54, the multiplier. Take the half of 54, 27, or reverse 2 and 7 and use it as the multiplier, and the result will be just as astonishing, all 6s or 1s. There is a witchery in these figures that I can't understand; can you?"

Wood Flour.

In the Catskills and other parts of New York state a curious industry consists in converting beech trees into wood flour. A whole trunk is stripped of its bark, put into a huge mechanism, which is practically a pencil sharpener on a vast scale, and cut into miles of the finest ribbons. These are thrown into a mill and converted into wood meal or wood flour. This is used, it is said, for making paper, although the farmers hint that it is taken west by government contractors to feed the Indians and supply our army with daily bread. In very dry summer weather this dust fills the air of the mill and is often explosive. Twice there have been accidents of the kind in this industry.

Navy Yards.

There are nine navy yards in the United States, as follows: Brooklyn navy yard, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Charlestown navy yard, at Boston, Mass.; Gosport navy yard, near Norfolk, Va.; Kittery navy yard, opposite Portsmouth, N. H.; League Island navy yard, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mare Island navy yard, near San Francisco, Cal.; New London navy yard, New London, Conn.; Pensacola navy yard, Pensacola, Fla., and Washington navy yard, at Washington, D. C.

The Only Hereditary Societies.

Membership in the Society of the Cincinnati is open only to the oldest sons of oldest sons of revolutionary officers; heredity, however, confers only the right of being voted for as a member, for the society may reject even an eldest born. The same rules apply to the military order of the Loyal Legion, open to officers of the civil war and their descendants. These are the only hereditary societies in the United States.

The Tontine System.

The Tontine system was devised by Lorenzo Tonti, a Neapolitan, who introduced it into France about 1650. A certain number of persons subscribe to a general fund. Each draws an annuity according to his age, the annuity of the survivors increases as each member dies. The last survivor receives the total annuity during his life. This is the general plan, altered and improved on since it was originated.

Dwellers to the Acre.

In Philadelphia the average number of persons living on an acre of ground is only thirteen; the number of dwellings per acre is two and a half, and the number of persons per dwelling six. In New York the number of persons on each acre of space is fifty-two, the number of dwellings per acre four, and the number of persons per dwelling eight.

A Proverb.

The proverbial expression, "Still waters run deep," probably originated with Robert Herrick. In "Hesperides" he says

Small griefs find tongues: full casques are ever found
To give, if any, yet but little sound
Deep waters noiseless are; yet this we know.
That chiding streams betray small depth below

Beginning of the Slave Trade.

In August, 1619, a Dutch vessel at Jamestown, Va., landed fourteen slaves in exchange for provisions. This is the only instance in America in which a beginning of the trade can be determined.

LONG LIFE

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought until we receive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver, and disease-preventer that has yet been discovered, is simmered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them?

They do not know, of course, unless they have the courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why don't you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but a dollar for a very large bottle. Try it once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggist may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine, for it really is a mine—of health.

Free from alcohol and opium; composed of expensive herbs and roots, with a fine, delicate flavoring.

A HUMAN MONSTROSITY

A Double Baby, With Two Bodies to One Head, Born in Marion—To Be Sent to a Museum.

Though the secret has been doubly guarded and the knowing parties few and careful, the STAR has learned of a strange monstrosity born in this city Monday night. The parents naturally shrink from notoriety in the matter and with a pledge to publish only the fact, the facts of the case were obtained. It is none other than a double child, born in the outskirts of the city, a baby—double throughout except the head and neck. There are two distinct bodies, each with two legs and four perfectly developed feet; four arms, though the inner ones are smaller and somewhat deformed, the left one of these inner arms having a hand with six fingers.

As previously stated there is but one head, with a somewhat comely face, though apparently about one month premature. Of course the strangely deformed body did not live, but was still born, a fact that afforded no little relief to the horror stricken parents.

The body has been carefully preserved and packed and will be shipped to the Rush Medical College Museum. It is a rare specimen of malformation, even more curious than the famous Morrow Co. double babies of a score of years ago, though the latter lived for three months of more
